

x'

The diagram consists of a dark gray circle centered at the origin of a coordinate system. The horizontal axis is represented by a dashed line, with the label x' positioned to the left of the circle. A green dot is located on the positive x' axis, inside the circle. The vertical axis is also represented by a dashed line, but it is not labeled.